

Peggy King Andersen Author Visit and Book Sale

The PTA is honored to welcome local author Peggy King Anderson to our school as part of Literacy Month. She is coming Feb 29 - March 1st to share her craft and work with our students on writing activities. We're pleased to offer four of her children's books for sale as part of this event.

THE FALL OF THE RED STAR Peggy co-authored this novel with Helen Szablya, whose family escaped from Hungary in the 1956 Hungarian Revolution. In this exciting action adventure, 14 year old Stephen finds out what Freedom is all about, and discovers it's not always easy to say someone is your enemy. The book was featured on Children's Book TV, and won the WPA Award, and National Association of Penwomen Award. (Fourth grade and up. Adults too!)

SAFE AT HOME! is a novel for middle grades. Lots of baseball in this book; the hero Tony pitches for his school team, while struggling with serious problems at home. Lots of humor too, as his little sister Christy enjoys her pretend friends, the Nanakins. This book is also good for alcohol awareness education. (Age 8 and up.)

FIRST DAY BLUES, a "Decision is Yours" book, is about Megan's first day at a new school. Will she have any friends? Will she be able to find her way around? This book has 14 different endings as the student reading the book chooses what he or she would do in various situations. (All grades)

A HORSE'S TALE, is being used by many schools (including ours) to teach Washington State history. In this book the history of our state is told through the eyes of ten young people as a wooden horse travels over 100 years. Peggy is one of the ten authors whose stories appear in this book. (3rd grade and up)

*Peggy will autograph books purchased for this event. Books will be sold as pre-order only. To order, return the form below to the PTA office by Thursday, March 1st.
